

Lindo, Stone Join Virtual Law Partners LLP From Willkie Farr and O'Melveny

Palo Alto, CA (February 2, 2010)– Virtual Law Partners LLP is very pleased to announce that noted employment lawyer Stephen T. Lindo and environmental litigation and compliance attorney Lisa Wing Stone have joined the firm as partners from the national law firms Willkie Farr & Gallagher LLP and O'Melveny & Myers LLP.

Mr. Lindo, who was recently named as one of the nation's top 50 employment lawyers by Human Resource Executive magazine, joins Virtual Law Partners from Willkie Farr & Gallagher, where he served as Chair of the Executive Compensation and Employee Benefits Department in New York.

Ms. Stone joins from the Washington D.C. office of O'Melveny & Myers, where she served as counsel in the Energy, Natural Resources and Environment Practice Group and represented leading energy, chemical and manufacturing companies in environmental compliance, regulatory and litigation matters.

"Steve and Lisa are highly respected in their fields, and we are very pleased to have such talented attorneys join our growing firm. Steve brings nationally recognized expertise in employee benefits and employment law, and Lisa enhances our environmental and clean technology practices," stated David Goldenberg, member of Virtual Law Partners Executive Committee. "We continue to gain interest from impressive attorneys from top-tier, national firms who are seeking a more efficient and client-centered model to better serve their clients."

Mr. Lindo has represented a wide variety of leading corporations on employment matters, as well as senior executives from a broad spectrum of the nation's largest companies. He is highly experienced in negotiating benefit and employment issues in reorganizations, mergers, acquisitions, restructurings as well as individual and group employment and severance matters.

Mr. Lindo is included in "The Best Lawyers in America" (2005-08) and is ranked by Chambers as among the leading attorneys practicing employee benefits and executive compensation law in New York. He regularly writes and lectures on executive compensation issues.

"Virtual Law Partners offers me an opportunity to be a part of a dynamic alternative to the traditional law firm business model while continuing to advise on employment and executive compensation matters in a setting that will be advantageous for my clients," stated Mr. Lindo.

Mr. Lindo is admitted to the Bar of the State of New York, a member of the Business Law Section and Tax Section of the New York State Bar Association. He served as past Co-Chair of the Committee on Non-Qualified Employee Benefits and of the Committee on Qualified Plans. He received his Juris Doctor degree from Boston University; an LLM in Tax from New York University, and a Bachelor of Arts from Princeton University.

Ms. Stone's practice focuses on representing leading corporate clients in environmental litigation and compliance matters. She has served as counsel to the federal public affairs office for one of the nation's largest electric companies, providing counsel on matters involving Recovery Act funding and coordinating legislative and regulatory policy on environmental and energy issues, including climate change, electric transportation, renewable generation development and energy efficiency.

Ms. Stone also has extensive experience in matters involving Superfund litigation, underground storage tank compliance and water quality issues. Prior to joining O'Melveny & Myers, she served as an associate at New York-based Morgan, Lewis & Bockius LLP.

"I am looking forward to working with VLP's talented team of attorneys within its highly innovative virtual law firm model," Ms. Stone stated. "This is an exciting opportunity for me to pursue my interests in environmental and energy law and to provide clients with new alternatives in legal representation."

Ms. Stone is licensed to practice law in New York, California and the District of Columbia. She is admitted to practice in the U.S. District Courts for the District of Columbia, the Central and Eastern Districts of California and the Southern and Eastern Districts of New York. She is a member of the Environment, Energy and Natural Resources section of the District of Columbia Bar Association.

She received her Juris Doctor degree, cum laude, from Georgetown University Law Center and a Bachelor of Arts in Political Science, cum laude, from Princeton University.

About VLP

Founded in 2008, VLP is a virtually connected and geographically distributed law firm. VLP currently has close to 40 attorneys, each with outstanding credentials and an average of more than 10 years of experience. VLP operates virtually, and VLP's proprietary technology platform allows the firm to collaborate easily and to operate with a small, highly specialized staff, passing the savings to clients through substantially lower rates or flat fee arrangements (generally 50% out of the cost of traditional legal services). VLP's practice reaches across multiple industry sectors, including high tech, financing and venture capital, life sciences, clean tech, tax and real estate, and represents clients that vary in size from early-stage startups to Fortune 500 companies. At VLP, we're dedicated to proving that expensive buildings don't provide great service – great people do.
