

Lessons and Benefits of New Models of Legal Practice – David Goldenberg to Present at NALP Education Conference on April 20

VLP founding partner David Goldenberg will be speaking at NALP's 2012 conference on alternative legal models. Mr. Goldenberg will be talking about VLP's innovative model and how it is better for clients and attorneys. New and alternative legal models are developing at lightning speed. Attendees will hear about virtual, alternative fee, and hybrid firm models, as well as firms whose lawyers work at client sites. The panel will explore how alternative firms have been built on the inefficiencies and imperfections of traditional law firms and how alternative firms are more responsive to today's market. In turn, attendees will learn how traditional firms can improve productivity and profitability through lessons learned from their alternatives and how law students and lawyers can thrive under these alternative models.

For more information on the NALP conference, please see <http://www.nalp.org/events>.