VLP Managing Partner Featured in Law360 Article, “Law Firm Leaders: VLP Law Group’s Timothy Bowers”

VLP Law Group’s Managing Partner Timothy Bowers was recently interviewed by Law360 for their series featuring law firm leaders. In the article, Tim discusses VLP’s virtual model including compensation, work-life balance, firm goals and hiring.

“When I sat for this interview, I could not have predicted that the world would be facing a pandemic and VLP’s virtual model would be so pertinent. As law firms are forced to close their physical offices and are encountering challenges of implementing remote working platforms, I’m thankful that our attorneys and staff can continue servicing our clients with minimal disruption.”

Click here to read the Law360 article.