

VLP Partner David Lawson Authors American Bar Association Article “The Coronavirus Pandemic Could Mark the Dawn of the Virtual Office Revolution in the Legal Industry”

VLP Partner David Lawson authored an article in the American Bar Association’s Business Law Section titled “The Coronavirus Pandemic Could Mark the Dawn of the Virtual Office Revolution in the Legal Industry.”

In the article, David examines how the coronavirus pandemic may spark a massive shift in the legal industry toward working remotely in a virtual office environment.

Click here to read the full article.